NRW YORK, November 4.
Colonel Whitely, of the secret service division, and assistants have, for over a month, been engaged in serretting out one of the most netorious gauge of counterfeiters in the country, and have just brought their labors to a successful close. It was first ascertained that a dangerous sixty pound tobacco stamp was being offered to enterprising merchants at about one-fifth the Government price—three dollars for a stamp sold by the Government at $19 20. The inducements were so great that many firms heretofore bearing an unblemished reputation in this city, Virginia, North Casolina and other States embarked in the enterprise, and purchased large lots from the New York manufacturer.

The first arrest was made October 15, in the person of Voiney Wright, who, is is alleged, had endeavored to pass an immense quantity of these sixty pound stamps to men named Copeland and Walker. He was quietly held to bail in the sum of $8,000 to await the action of the grand force.

the grand jury.

The bed piece, roll and plate, with six transfers, were secured by the detectives.

The next arrest was one Hart Pierce, an accomplished engrazer, of 39 Nassau street, on October 30, with whom were seized all the dies and machinery used in counterfaiting, among which was a pressure of the street of the str

BALTIMORE, November 4.

The colored citizens of Bultimore and Maryland celebrated the anniversary of their emancipation with great enthusiasm. The procession was several miles long, and composed of a number of benevlent societies in full regalia, on horses and in carriages, trade associations on platform wagons and on foot, and the usual representations with benners, flags and appropriate devices, all preceded by full bands of music. Many colored persons were present from the District of Columbia, also a number of white persons from different States. Along the line of the procession the sidewalks were crowded with whites and blacks. Perfect order prevailed. Bishop Wayman delivered an address this afternoon, and the celebration closed to-night with a grand ball at Douglass Hall.

Reports were also insale from Section Third, and two supplementary reports were presented, all of which, they having been hurriedly prepared, were referred back to the various committees to be perfected for publication, buring the devotional exercises preceding the afternoon season, Rev. Dr. Bronson, of Burmah, India, addressed the meeting by invitation. The Doctor described the good effect of Sunday schools as Burmah. The children learned Hymns, which they sung at home, and thus interested their parents. In case, he said, he thought they were going too far in the old track in mission work, they ought to begin something new. It was not necessary that a missionary should be a learned Doctor of Divinity. They wanted some-body to tell the simple story of Jesus. Let the Sunday schools send them teachers, and they would support them. He wished the Convention had considered the relations of Sunday schools to foreign mission work. He wished them to be filled with mission work. They would have some infinence with the heasten world.

Though he had seen thirty-five years of mission work be was not tired, but would gird himself to the work.

Subsequently Mr. Jacobs, of Chiesgo, stated that for lack of funds Dr. Bronson would be olliged to return to Burmah by sail vessel, which would occupy five months, whereas if he had a thousand dollars he could go to England by steamer, and thence via the Sunday Schools, in all parts of the country, represented in the convention.

Rev. G. what you mean? How sir—now how, I say.

Murat—The "how" is about as trouble-some as the "mean." I don't know what you are driving at. I said, and I say now, that for the father of the President to be meddling in things he knows nothing about, is undignified, irritating, and an injury to the administration. That's all.

P. G.—Know nothing about? And what do you mean by that, sir? I suppose you and that Dick Smith know all about it; a nice mess we'd have of it if you and Dick Smith had your way; a pretty thing you did when you recommended that S-h-a-w, sir—Shaw, sir.

Murat—Well, about as well as you succeeded when you recommended that Me-Guire. LIVINGSTON HOWLAND, INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

ceeded when you recommended that McGuire.

The P. G. hereupon suddenly collapsed. He sat down abruptly on a chair filled with valuable exchanges, crushing them under the Chief Magistrate's paternal seat, and clasping his cane fiercely between his venerable legs, he said:

P. G.—I want to tell you, Mr. Halstead, I have changed my mind about that man. I believe he is a rascal.

Murat—Very well then, sir, we will set off Tom Shaw against McGuire. But it strikes me that both you and I, Mr. Grant, had better refrain from troubling the Admininistration with our recommendations. LORENZ & WIGHTMAN, Friday Morning, November 5.

How Should the Public Funds be Kept Hew Should the Public Fands be kept in Ohio.

Is the sub-treasury system of Ohio perfect? Is it the best system that could be adopted for the safe and profitable keeping of the public memay? These are questions that are worth considering.

It is not the best system that could be adopted; it is not the safest, nor is it the most profitable. The money belonging to the State and to the several counties is entrusted to the care of the State Treasurer and the respective County Treasurers. This law requires it to be kept in heir vaults, and it is popularly supposed to be there at all times. This law, however, was violated by Breelin, and a more stringent law was subsequently violated was violated by Jessin, and a more stringent law was subsequently violated by one of his successors. In the first case the State lost heavily. In the last it lost nothing, because Government honds had been substituted for currency, he Treasurer seeking to realize a profrom the interest that should acrue. I from the interest that should acrue. It is not too much to say that county funds are used as the State Treasurer used State funds. The temptation is always great. It seems so easy to make a few thousand dollars by temporarily loaning the funds, or by placing Government securities in place of the currency, that in very many collars by temporarily doming the funds, or by placing Government securities in place of the currency, that in very many cases the thing is done. This works very well, so long as no loss occurs, or so long as the public do not hear of it; but the risk is taken; the law is violated, and the system is proved not to be a safe one. The next quest on is whether it is wise to keep idle a large amount of money upon which interest night be obtained? The Treasurer of Hamilton county, for example, holds, on an average, $800,000 in currency. When the December taxes are paid there will be $1,400,000 in the Treasury. This will be withdrawn from public use and locked up, much to the inconvenience of business men. Very often the deposits in the Sub-treasury of the United States and the county Treasury at this point exceed the entire deposits of the banks on Third street. With reference to United States deposits it is not nce to United States deposits it is not robable that any change for the better an be made, as Mr. Boutwell keeps his in the aggregate, a large balance in cur-rency; but with reference to the county unds an improvement may be made that active use.

This may be done without risk. Let a bank or banks be selected as depositories, upon the same principle adopted by the United States, requiring such depository to place in the hands of the County Treasurer, Government bonds to fully cover all money that may from time to time be left with the banks. Upon such deposits interest would be allowed at a rate not less than four per cent. If the county deposits should average $800,000, the interest, at this rate, would amount annually to $32,000. Thus we should have perfect safety coupled with profit, and at the same time the public would have the use of the money which is now collected semi-annually and kept locked up until used.

This subject is worthy of consideration in view of all the facts in the case, and if there is any valid objection to the proposed plan, we should be glad to hear it.—Cincinnatti Gazette.

the Treasurer, and it was intended to be pose of appointing delogates to attend the so atringent in its provisions that the so stringent in its provisions that that officer would be interdicted from appropropriating the public moneys to bis individual benefit. The Gadate for one of the Judges of the Sulaw, have used the funds of the State in their charge for their private emolument, but they could have done so, notwithstanding all the statute guards placed around the treasury, if they had been so disposed. It must be admitted there are strong temptations perating upon that officer, not only from | crat.

in force, with any violation of that enactment. We have only referred to the temptations and possibilities of that officer being almost, if not quite persuaded to become a money lender. The pressure upon him is great. During the fall and winter when a large amount of money is needed to move the grain crop and the beef and pork, there is not less than a million of dollars in the keeping of the State, county and municipal officials in this city, and it makes a vast deal of difference whether that amount of money is locked up, withdrawn from circulation, or used in commercial operations. The treasurers of this county and city have very large balances at their disposal, and the public must rely upon its proper disbursement and safe keeping to the integrity of the officer and the security of his official bond. If he loans those balances, or uses them in speculations, the interest or profits accrue to the officer and not to the public. The loan of the balances in the hands of the treasurers of this city, and county and county and county and county and city in the construction and are authorized to state that a very large majority of them are decidedly in favor of having the Convention to the public. The loan of the balances in the hands of the treasurers of this city and vicinity and county at easy four respective to the officer and not to the public. The loan of the balances in the hands of the treasurers of this city. the hands of the treasurers of this city and county at even four per cent. interest, will make very handsome perquisites for those officers, and often they are used as corruption funds.

ment might be made in the management of county funds that will insure greater safety and profit to the people than by the present mode. The plan is to select a bank or banks as deposit them to place in the hands of the County them to place in the hands of the County ion of negroes in the States of Mississippi and Louisiana, and yet the planters are unable to get their work done at the proper time. This is owing to the demoralization of the field hands by carpet baggers and scalawags. They are persuaded from their work to attend political gatherings, become lazy, and then push off in the direction of the cities. Before the war there were not over twelve thousand negroes in New Orleans-now there are seventy-five or a hundred thou sand; and yet labor is as high now as it ever was-higher than it is elsewhere in the United States, and good servants are more difficult to obtain than they ever were. There is a corresponding inc lages in the State. This accounts for the want of fixed hands, and at the same time illustrates the evil policy of the Radical party in inducing the negroes to abandon work and lead a life of idleness and, in too many cases, crime.

STATE POLITICS.

—We learn from the Indianapolis SEN-TINEL that Judge Perkins declines being a candidate for Supreme Judge. We re-gret that such is his determination, for we believe him to be admirably qualified for the position. As a sound lawyer, Judge Perkins has but few equals in the State, and we would be pleased to see him again on the bench.—Covington Friend. again on the tench.—Covington Friend.

-A mass meeting of the Democracy of Putnam county will be held at the Court House in Greencastle, on the first Saturday in December next, at one o'clock P. M. Said meeting will select delegates to the 8th of January State Couvention; appoint a Central Committee for Putnam county; adopt a mode for making nominations for county officers for 1870, if deemed advisable at that time; and transact such other business as may come Cincinnati Gazette.

The foregoing article is suggestive. We have in this State a sub-Treasury law similar to that of Ohio. It requires the Treasurer of State to deposit all public funds received by him in the safes or vaults in his office, to disburse it only upon warrants drawn in pursuance of law or legislative appropriations, and then in the order that the money was received. The purpose of the law was to prevent the private use of the funds by the Treasurer, and it was intended to be date for one of the Judges of the Supreme Court on the next Democratic in which the law was violated by State Treasurers, in one the State leest the deavily, and in the other it lost nothing. These facts show that it is almost impossible to frame an enactment that will restrain the fiscal officer from the use of the sumoney te his own profit, if he has the disposition to do so or is impelled by avarance. We do not charge that any of our Treasurers, since the enactment of this law, have used the funds of the State in their charge for their private amplument their charge for their private amplument.

admitted there are strong temptations operating upon that officer, not only from the innate love of money, but the desire to accommodate friends. And another inducement has its weight upon the custodian of the public funds, and it is the fact that he can have ample convertible security for whatever he may regard it safe to loan temporarily, or upon what is known as "call loans." Either of the National Banks, or private bankers, of this cut could easily secure "call loans" by abundant, undoubted, or gilt-edge private and public securities, with the most ample margin. We enquire, if the temptation is not great, under such circumstances? Is not the appeal to the pocket of the Treasurer most persuasive, if not convincing?

Recollect we have not charged either of the Treasurers of State, who have been in office under the sub-Treasury law now in force, with any violation of that enactment. We have only referred to the officer being almost, if not quite personnel of the conventions and possibilities of that officer being almost, if not quite agreement and the possibilities of that officer being almost, if not quite agreement and the proper that the time for the meeting of the Democratic State Convention approaches, we observe that our friends of the Democratic State Convention approaches, we observe that our friends of the Democratic State Convention approaches, we observe that our friends of the Democratic State Convention approaches, we observe that our friends of the Democratic State Convention approaches, we observe that our friends of the Democratic State Convention approaches, we observe that our friends of the Democratic State Convention of the Democratic Press, in discussing the claims or quitiends of the Democratic State Convention for the meeting of the Democratic State Convention approaches, we observe that our friends of the Democratic State Convention approaches, we observe that our friends of the Demo lions of it are due now for accrued interes; and it is easy to imagine a case in which a sudden emergency would require the expenditure of the whole of the balance. In such a case, where would the boasted decrease of 64 millions since March 1 be found? Most probably the whole of the 46 millions "held to await the pleastire of Congress" would again be thrown on the market, and the country would find itself deeper in debt than it was a year ago. Lords and Ladies. The dir cussion of the pretensions to nobility of the soi-distant "Lord Ainsley" has brought up the question of what is a "Lord" in the English sense?

SUPREME COURT CANDIDATE—NAPOLEON B. TAYLOR.—At our State Convention on the 8th of January, candidates for Supreme Judges will be nominated. This will be the most important work of the Convention, and the Democracy should see that the right kind of men are selected for those high and responsible offices. The judiciary should be kept as pure as possible, and consequently none but good men and talented lawyers should be nominated for Supreme Judges. We think it is high time the present members of the Supreme Court should give place to abler and purer jurists—to men who will not allow their political feelings and prejudices to influence their judicial decisions.

The true fact is, that the fank of "Lord" does not exist at all in England. Lord is a mere title of courteey by which certain classes are spoken of or addressed personally. The neblity of England, and, saying that of England, we mean that of the three kingdoms, consists of five orders of tank—Dukes, Marquises, Karls, Viscounts and Barons. By custom they are called Lords, and the same custom extends the designation by courtosy to the sons and brothers of Lords that have dies in their own right. The legal designation of any mobileman is hard the same Parket Red. continues of Lords that have attles in their own right. The legal designation of any mobileman is by his title, as Puke, Marquis, Err., Viscount or Baron. All others of the families of nobles, whether Lefts of theirle or not, are legally known by their family names, with an alias. The late Earl of Derby would be entitled believed designed their soldest son would be styled "Edward, commonly called Lord Stanley." In coursesy one is called Lord Derby, and commonly called Lord Stanley." In courtesy one is called Lord Derby, and "be other Lord Stanley. The younger son of Eurl Derby would be styled "Frederick Arthur Stanley, commonly known as Lord Frederick Arthur Stanley." Young-er sons and brothers, not heirs to a title, bave the "Lord" prefixed to their full camily names.

For examine, the present Earl Russell was krown, through nearly the whole of his political life, as Lord Jehn Russell. He was not Peer or Lord in his own right, but called "Lord" by courtesy, as a brother of the Duke of Bedford. He was never called Lord Russell until he was made Peer in his own right. So also Lord George Bentinck and Lord John Manners, the lirst a son of a Duke of Portland, and the latter a son of a Duke of Rutland, were leading members of the sol by tillage. Comeout! examine, the present Earl Russell for freight to Chicago, and so much for selling commission with the chance of striking a low market, or having the profits eaten up by storage in waiting for higher prices. Nothing of the kind! The young man's corn was scarcely ripe before he began to have offers for it on the farm. He finally accepted the proposition of a party owning 600 head of hogs to feed and fatten them for market, the hogs to be weighed to him on going into the pen, and he to get six and a half cents for every pound of weight put en them. Here we have made a fittle calculation of this young man's profits, taking for granted we have made a fittle 'dalculation of this young man's profits, taking for granted he will have corn enough to fatten the 600 head—and if he should fall short he can easily buy enough to make up the want at reasonable rates. If helpuls 125 pounds on each hog (and this has been stated as a fair average) he will produce 75,000 pounds of pork, which at six and a half cents per yound, will bring $4.875. Putting his expenses for help on the farm at $500—which is too liberal—and let other outlays take up the balance of the $875, and give the young man his profits for about nine months work—$1,000.

Now if there is anything improbable about this, let any one who detects it, point it out. We know this is an exceptional case, in some sense. This young man has been fortunate in the season and the crop, as well as the favorable market man has been fortunate in the season and the crop, as well as the favorable market for hogs. But let the profits be cut down fifty per cent. and, considering the outlay and the capital or credit employed, the result is still a brilliant success. How many young men, without capital, find themselves seized of such an amount of profit in so brief a season's work? Added to the pecuniary profit's the young man's health is wholly restored and he is now a strong, healthful man. This he regards as more valuable than the money he will make.

track has been broken in many places, and in the halls and all over the grounds are evidences of the recent presence of a great crowd. In the vicinity of the scene of the explosion, nearly everything more than the torn up ground and the piles of sawdust to mark the spot. The latter tell their own tales. That made by the slought the granting the called dust; it is simply a pile of chips, and could only be made with asaw revolving a frightful rate of speed, Contrasted with that made by the other saws, its appearance is still more noticeable, for their seems to have been cut as fine as such unills ordinarily do. The roof of the cattle shed, nearly four hundred feet northwest of where the engine stood, and through which a piece of the boller, weighing over a thousand pounds, was hurled, has not been repaired yet, and the buge gap gives a most comprehensive ideas of the force of the explosion. In the north side of Mechanics Hall, about one hundred and twenty-five feet south of the engine, there is a large hole near the ground. A small piece of the boiler crushed through the board wall as easily as if it had been an egg shell, and striking a table twelve feet long and three wide, fastened to it, tore it into bits. When one remembers how many people were in the neighborhood of the engines, and sees these evidences of the force with which boiler was torn, it seems astonishing the so few were killed and wounded. The only wonder is that there were not ten times as many. A considerable space of ground is blackened and covered with sawdust, and a large hole shows where the boiler stood.

Altogether the Fair ground is not a wary pleasant place to visit just now, when the snow, and rain, and decay shall have reme and ground, when the snow, and rain, and decay shall have removed the fearful scene enacted there only a few weeks ago. Dr. SCHRNCK'S MANDRIKE PILLS, for Diseases of the Liver, or to act as a Gentle Purgative.

All of these three medicines are often required in curing Consumption, though the Pulmonic Syrup alone has sured many desperate cases. The Seawed Tonic and Mandrake Pills assist in regulating the Stomach and Liver, and help the Pulmonia Syrup to disest and search through Pulmonie Syrup to digest and search through the blood ressels, by which means a cure is soon effected.

These Medicines are conscientiously offered to the public as the only safe, cortain and reliable remedies for Pulmonary Censemption, and for all those morbid conditions of the body which lead to that fatal disease. Liver Complaint and Dyspepsie are often forerunners of Consumption, and when they manifest themselves they require the most prompt attention.

The Pulmonie Syrup is a medicine which has had a long probation before the public. Its value has been proved by the thousands of cures it has made through a period of more than thirty-five years, in all of which time its reputation has constantly increased, and the most obstinate skepticism can no longer doubt that it is a remedy which may be used with confidence in all cases which admit of a cure.

supposed to be incurable, when friends and physicians have despaired, the use of this medicine has saved the life of the patient and restored him to perfect health.

Dr. Schenck does not say that all cases of Palmonary Consumption are within the reach of medicine, but he emphatically asserts that often when patients have the most alarming symptoms, such as a violent cough, creeping chills, when patients have the most alarming symptoms, such as a violent cough, creeping chills, night sweats and general debility, even to such a degree that they are obliged to lie in bed, and when they are given up by their physician, they may still be cured. No medical treatment can create new lungs, but when the lungs are very sadly diseased, and to some extent destroyed, a care may be effected by Dr. Schenck's medicines.

Also, in Scrotulous Diseases these medicines are equally efficient. Dr. Schenck has photographs of a number of persons who have been nearly covered with running sores, and now all headed up. This shows its purifying properties, which must be done to heal eavities in the lungs.

In the treatment of Consumption it is of the utmost importance to give vigor and a healthy

In the treatment of Consumption it is of the utmost importance to give vigor and a healthy tone to the system. Hence it is necessaryfto strengthen the appetite or the patient and improve the digestion. Proper nourisment is required, together with such means as will make the food easily digestible. The articles most cuitable for the diet of Consumptive patients are designated in Dr. Schenck's Almanacs, which are distributed gratuitously. In general, the most highly nutritious articles are to be preferred, but the digestive organs must be strengthened in order to make either food or medicine serviceable. This requirement is met by the Sea Weed Tonic, and for this purpose it was designated.

Soa Weed Tonic, and for this purpose it was designated.
When the digestive powers are put in good order, the food has its proper effect, the system of the patient is invigorated, and the lungs begin to exercise their functions in a normal and healthy manner. Them the healing powers of the Palmonic Syrup will complete the cure.
Pulmonary Consumption is almost always complicated with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint. Schepck's Mandrake Pills are intended to remove obstructions from the Liver and restore its healthy action. They have all the efficacy which is ascribed to calome for "blue mass," and are warranted not te constain a particle of any mineral poison. These pills cure the most obstinate costiveness, sick headache, piles, billoug affections, and all other diseases which arise from a torpid or obstructed condition of the months by the use of Schenck's three great remedies.
